Chapter 261: The Divine Infrastructure

The Twelve Divine Beings, led by Sung Jin-Woo, were not only supreme entities of power but also benevolent overseers who understood the importance of a thriving, sustainable society. Through the System, they assigned their believers to establish and maintain essential infrastructures to ensure the well-being and prosperity of their dominions.

Farms and Food Estates

To provide for the countless lives under their protection, the Divine Beings directed their followers to cultivate lands and raise livestock.

Farms and Estates:
Believers were tasked with building expansive mana-enriched farms and food estates, capable of producing vast quantities of crops. These were supported by mana-powered irrigation systems and weather manipulation techniques.

Crops: Wheat, rice, fruits, and medicinal herbs that grew faster and more nutritious with mana infusion.

Mana-Gardens: Specialized gardens producing rare plants for potions, elixirs, and divine food.

Livestock and Cattle:
Large-scale ranches were established to raise livestock, including cattle, sheep, and mana-beasts. These creatures provided:

Meat: Enhanced by mana, making it both nourishing and restorative.

Materials: Mana-infused leather, wool, and bones for crafting.

Energy: Some livestock were bred for their ability to generate renewable energy through mana cycles.

Factories and Smithies

Industries were created to support the Divine Armada and improve the lives of ordinary beings.

Factories:
Constructed to produce mana-based tools, weapons, and vehicles for both civilian and military purposes. Factories were powered by mana cores and operated with the aid of divine blueprints provided by the Twelve Divine Beings.

Production ranged from household items to warships and mechs.

Smithies:
Skilled blacksmiths, guided by divine blessings, operated smithies that produced weapons, armor, and divine tools.

Divine Rank Artifacts: Forged with mana-infused metals, capable of rivaling the power of celestial beings.

Mass-Produced Equipment: High-quality gear for apostles, soldiers, and shadow troops.

Hospitals and Healthcare

Mana-based hospitals were established across realms, ensuring universal access to advanced healthcare.

Healing Techniques:

Mana-enhanced medicine and potions were widely available.

Healers and doctors were trained to use healing spells, ensuring rapid recovery for all injuries and illnesses.

Specialized healing wards accelerated recovery for mortals and divine beings alike.

Research Centers:
Hospitals also housed research facilities to study diseases, mana anomalies, and the effects of divine blessings on mortal physiology.

Education and Knowledge

The Divine Beings recognized that knowledge was the foundation of progress, and they prioritized the establishment of educational institutions.

Schools and Universities:
These institutions offered a curriculum blending traditional knowledge with mana-based sciences, preparing future generations for a mana-rich era.

Subjects ranged from basic literacy to advanced mana-crafting and cosmic navigation.

Libraries and Archives:
Massive libraries stored knowledge accumulated over millennia. They contained:

Sacred Texts: Wisdom and teachings of the Twelve Divine Beings.

Arcane Tomes: Manuals on magic, cultivation, and divine techniques.

Histories: Chronicles of the multiverse and its countless civilizations.

Public Spaces and Community Development

To ensure harmonious living, the Twelve Divine Beings encouraged the creation of spaces for leisure and community bonding.

Gardens and Parks:
Mana-infused gardens served as places of peace and rejuvenation, with trees and flowers emitting calming auras.

Some gardens even housed mana-spring fountains, where visitors could meditate and enhance their abilities.

Temples and Sanctuaries:
Places of worship and reflection were established, where followers could offer prayers and receive blessings.

Mana-Based Transportation Systems:
Roads, railways, and portals connected cities and realms, making travel efficient and seamless.

A Prosperous Multiverse

Through their divine guidance and the dedication of their believers, the Twelve Divine Beings transformed the multiverse into a utopia of mana-based technology and prosperity. Every aspect of life was enhanced by the infusion of divine energy, ensuring that their dominion thrived under their watchful eyes.

As Sung Jin-Woo and the other Divine Beings observed the flourishing realms, they felt a profound sense of fulfillment. Their vision of harmony and progress was no longer a dream—it was a reality, built by the unity of their will and the unwavering faith of their followers.